Children's Fiction: Cub by Cynthia L. Copeland

Cindy is a studious 7th grader trying to figure out ways to avoid the mean girls at school. When she gets the opportunity to work for a local newspaper, she learns much more than just how to write articles. Set in the 1970s, Cindy figures out how to assert herself in a rapidly changing world.

Deidre, San Carlos Library

Young Adult Fiction: Between the Lines by Jodi Picoult and Samantha Van Leer

This story is told in separate voices, that of 16-year-old Prince Oliver and 15-year-old Delilah. Prince Oliver wants to break free of his fairy tale existence, while Delilah is a loner obsessed with Prince Oliver and the book in which he exists. Together, they work to seek his freedom. It's a really nice story and a fun read!

Maahika, Foster City Library Volunteer

Adult Non-Fiction: Black in Latin America by Henry Louis Gates Jr.

Henry Louis Gates Jr. explores what it's like to be Black in Latin American countries. Some countries are proud to be Black, while others value whiteness and perpetrate racism. An intelligent introduction to race in Latin America, this title was also turned into a documentary available through DVD or streaming on Kanopy.

Isa, Half Moon Bay Library

Children's Non-Fiction: I'm Trying to Love Math by Bethany Barton

A great book for any child (or grownup) who struggles to love math. In this book, an alien guides you through how math is an important part of things we love like baking cookies, music, and the natural world.

Alice, Portola Valley Library and Woodside Library

Streaming: Under the Skin

If you're still in the mood for a Halloween thrill, watch Under the Skin, one of the most original and unsettling films of recent memory. This slow-burn, sci-fi noir follows an alien who cruises around Scotland in search of the perfect snack, learning there are more to humans than what lies, you guessed it, under the skin. Available on DVD or streaming on Kanopy. Be warned, this film is for brave, adult movie-goers!
