Agreement & Release

Except under few special circumstances, St. Louis Public Library does not hold the copyright to its materials and, hence, cannot grant or deny permission to use them. Accordingly, you are solely responsible for determining the copyright status of any materials you may wish to use, to investigate the owner of the copyright, and to obtain permission for your intended use. In all cases, you must cite St. Louis Public Library as the source with the appropriate credit line provided below, and, if a particular material is copyrighted, you must cite all copyright information and comply with all other terms or restrictions that may be applicable to that material.

The material reproduced must be cited as: St. Louis Public Library

I/We further agree to indemnify, defend at our expense and hold harmless the Library against loss, damage, liability, costs and expenses (including attorney's fees) which may be incurred as a result of, in or defending or settling, any claim, suit, judgment or demand involving the alleged infringement of rights of an author, illustrator, creator or publisher, or his, her or its heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns.

I/We further agree that the decision by the Library to permit or refuse to permit the reproduction of the work is at the sole discretion of the Library and is not subject to appeal.

I/We further agree not to distort, mutilate or modify a work of visual art which would be prejudicial to the author's honor or reputation.

I/We further agree to provide the Library with one complimentary copy of any publication, film, audiotape, videotape or any other work in which materials owned by the Library are used.

Copyright Notice
Warning Concerning Copyright Restrictions – The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, U.S. code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be “used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research.” If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of ‘fair use’ that use may be liable for copyright infringement. This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law. Users must also abide by copyright information found on the Library’s public website at spl.org.

In accordance with the foregoing rules and regulations of the Library, I/we hereby apply for permission (check one):

to obtain digital image(s) for private study, scholarship, or research OR  to obtain digital image(s) for reproduction as part of publication the above mentioned item(s).
