NFB Film Club: Sailing the Arctic in The Great Adventure

Not Rated | 2003 | 1h 30min

In the documentary The Great Adventure, filmmaker Jean Lemire and his crew undertake a 5-month, 21,000-kilometre voyage to record the impact of global warming on the Arctic. We watch as the crew navigate a 3-masted sailing ship through the legendary Northwest Passage, a treacherous, ice-choked route that has captured the imaginations of great explorers for centuries. This compelling scientific and personal adventure is set against the backdrop of breathtaking northern scenery. Survival is a daily struggle in the Far North, and the Sedna IV's crew face unusually cold weather that makes navigation exceptionally perilous. In partnership with the NFB Film Club.

Book Club: Forgiveness - A Gift from My Grandparents by Mark Sakamoto

There's only a mere glimpse at the personal rupture that makes Mark Sakamoto's Forgiveness: A Gift From My Grandparents a memoir, before the book sinks into a historical account of the Second World War. Pieced together through Sakamoto's interviews with his maternal grandmother, Mitsue Sakamoto, and paternal grandfather, Ralph MacLean, these wartime recollections from contrasting sides of a human tragedy offer a unique perspective on the idea of a Canadian family.
