Chair of the Library Board
Libraries have evolved through the years and the Central Rappahannock Regional Library is no exception. As an educational institution, CRRL has worked diligently to meet our community’s 21st century needs, respond to customer interests and requests, engage them with unique opportunities and materials, and provide excellent customer service.

This Strategic Plan not only reinforces these objectives, but guides our future in the following directions:

- READ – Encourage everyone in our region to read, view, and listen
- LEARN – Promote lifelong learning from birth to college and beyond
- MEET – Create thriving spaces where the community connects, accesses library resources, and shares their ideas and stories
- INNOVATE – Provide collections and services that aid in soliciting ideas, build skills, support lifelong learning, and spark creativity

CRRL’s impact on our community will be profound as lives are improved and an innovative and dynamic community is created. Individuals will thrive thanks to the events, services, connections, educational opportunities, entertainment, and knowledge we provide. In a constantly evolving world, everyone in our region is empowered to collaborate with the library and participate in the transformative power of information, imagination, and ideas.

Overview
We are proud to present the Central Rappahannock Regional Library Strategic Plan. Our new approach reflects the tenets of READ • LEARN • MEET • INNOVATE and focuses the library’s desire to provide lifelong education for everyone across the communities it serves throughout the region. We researched other libraries, considered best practices, and conducted both staff focus groups and a community survey. We received over 6000 survey responses which provided extensive input to shape this plan.

Technology, education, and economic changes confronting us are profound and the very idea of a public library is changing in new and exciting ways.

Results from the focus groups and survey suggest that the library can best ensure it is aligned with the region’s high priority requirements through collaboration with existing regional initiatives, and making sure it is relevant and has the resources and services that reflect the region’s needs.

Largely due to the onset of the information age and rapidly emerging technology trends, libraries are more relevant than ever to a diverse community with widely disparate needs: the unemployed looking for work; the well-educated and socioeconomically well-off looking for e-books, digital music and high quality information from library databases; the mother with children reading high quality books and attending programs; the senior citizen who goes to the library for companionship; and, the homeless who visit the library as one of society’s last bastions of refuge where they are not harassed or asked to leave. However, not everyone appreciates the rich context in which libraries serve their communities. Some view the library as outdated and irrelevant because of the information age and 24/7 access to information via the internet.

The community and staff answered questions about the role of the Central Rappahannock Regional Library in their lives, satisfaction with library services, frequency of library use, and more. We received suggestions for improving library services in areas such as operating hours, parking, facilities, and collections. We also heard many compliments about the library and the staff. This allowed us to understand the library’s strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and challenges, and helped us formulate what matters now and throughout the next five years.
Purpose of the Strategic Plan
The Central Rappahannock Regional Library Strategic Plan provides a cohesive vision and direction for the library for the next five years and beyond. The plan will guide the library in designing services and resources for the region.
