

Date Submitted: 04/28/2020

Author: Debra

“The PSWs are really working hard, and they have seen patients suffer with it. PSWs should really be recognized.”

"Well, I've been doing fine with PSWs. I'm good with coffee and books. I don't mind enclosed spaces, I've got distractions, though I miss going out, but I haven't missed it that much. I have books and I have animal channels -I watch the baby animals. I don't want it to go on too long but it's given time to reflect. It's been interesting, I've been fortunate, being disabled, there hasn't been a loss of a long list of what I can't do. I have a lot of time to reflect on, now, and could start writing short stories. I'm fortunate, the other site has been hit, and it's a nursing home. It's the most fragile of us that are being affected. The PSWs are really working hard, and they have seen patients suffer with it. PSWs should really be recognized."