“Hopefully, this virus will be over soon, and we can return to our normal lives. I would be so happy and would throw myself into many activities with full vigor.”

“I am laying on my bed, thinking this will all be over. A virus, known as Coronavirus, has invaded our country. At first, I was so happy, because there was no school and lots of relaxation, but then, it all quickly became a disaster. Two months and two weeks have passed. With each day, the virus is getting worse and worse, and I am getting lazier and lazier. Now, this is affecting my swimming, because swimming competitively, I have to be vigorous, not lazy. When I finally will be able to go back to swimming not, only me, but my whole swim team will be ruined, because of this. I have no idea, when this virus will end, but I hope it will end soon. My eyes are suffering horrendously, and I need contact lenses. Additionally, I am going to go insane, if I can't go anywhere else, then outside for a walk, or stay inside. Hopefully, this virus will be over soon, and we can return to our normal lives. I would be so happy and would throw myself into many activities with full vigor.”
