

Date Submitted: 6/11/2020

Author: Alexander Leong, Under 12 years-old

“The COVID-19 situation has also changed my social life, because my friends and I cannot see each other in person now. We can only see each other for two hours a day on the screen for online lessons, whereas before when we used to see each other six to seven hours a day when we were at school.”

COVID-19 has changed my life in many ways, especially my daily schedule. Sometimes, I feel happy, while at other times, I feel sad.

Weekends are not that much different than weekdays, because we do not go out for my extra curricular activities. Covid has changed my everyday schedule, because I am working at home, instead of going to school.

First, I do not have to wake up so early, which is a good thing, because I am not a morning person. I wake up at 8:30am on school days now, compared to waking up at 7:00 am to go to school. I do my homework from 9:00am to 3:30pm and try to finish all my homework earlier, so that I can play in the afternoon or evening.

The COVID-19 situation has also changed my social life, because my friends and I cannot see each other in person now. We can only see each other for two hours a day on the screen for online lessons, whereas before when we used to see each other six to seven hours a day when we were at school. Also, on weekends, I cannot attend soccer or Taekwondo to see my friends.

Lastly, this pandemic has given me more spare time to play. As long as I complete my schoolwork, I can play, sometimes for hours, if I finish early. At school, I only got to play outside two to three times a day and each time was only twenty minutes.

In conclusion, I really like this new schedule, because it gives me flexibility to do my homework and more free time to play outside or enjoy my hobbies. However, I miss seeing and playing with my friends face-to-face. I like this online learning so far almost every day, but I am looking forward to going back to school and playing with my friends.