Door half shut... Or Door half open??

Instead of looking at what I miss during Covid-19, I choose to look at what I have gained.

1. I do not go to restaurants these days. But, now I get to cook tasty and hygienic food at home. I even help my mom to prepare delicious food.
2. Because of Social distancing, my travels have become very less. But, the time I spend with my family has increased. I love to spend more time with them.
3. I used to go to the library to read great books. Nowadays, I learnt to read e-books at home. I have learnt to use my kindle effectively.
4. I used to shop for a lot of toys. Now I make great use of the games I already have at home. I have started to make new toys and games myself. I now know the difference between my needs and wants.
5. Yes, I miss my school and classes. But I now engage myself in online classes and school assignments.
6. I love playing with my friends which I really miss now. But we still see each other online and play games together.

Be positive, Stay healthy and happy. We will fight it together !!
