“My family and I have been going outside much more. Every Saturday, we go to a park and watch the ocean by the waterfront. Me and my Dad also go on bike rides everyday and we see more people outside walking and riding bikes than before Covid-19.”

During the Covid-19 Quarantine, I have been spending more time with my family, I have been spending more time outdoors in nature and I have been doing online schooling the past three months with the closure of schools. My family and I have been doing different activities to spend more time together. Since we are all at home, we take the time to talk and discuss different things together. We eat all our meals together instead of being in different places and eating meals separately before Covid. Since me and my friends are not seeing each other in person, we connect on zoom. My family and I have been going outside much more. Every Saturday, we go to a park and watch the ocean by the waterfront. Me and my Dad also go on bike rides everyday and we see more people outside walking and riding bikes than before Covid-19. In conclusion, I have been spending much more quality time than usual with my family, I have been doing school from home and I have been doing more outdoor activities than I ever did before Covid-19.
