Safety and Survival

Hand Sanitizer

The hand sanitizer bottle was one of its kind. It had a disinfectant gel that was safe to use for humans. For a hand sanitizer to be effective, it needs to have 60% alcohol. The reason why it is very expensive (as shown in the picture above right) is because of the rise in its demand so quickly. What is the reason for the escalation? Washing hands was the only effective way to prevent obtaining COVID-19 but a not very promising approach. Having a bottle of hand sanitizer is like having a portable basin. This made people more comfortable to go to the store without getting the virus. Every month frontline workers need 2.9 million litres of this liquid.

During Covid-19, people were not allowed to go to the park and some other public areas to lower the spread of Covid-19. If kids went to the park, they might not social distance therefore spreading the virus.

The CERB program was introduced by Trudeau's Government to help individuals who have lost their jobs due to Covid-19 survive and purchase necessities that are seen essential in one's survival. I chose this picture because it has helped many Canadians across the country that were negatively impacted by the virus. This relates to my theme because the government is giving money assuming $2000.00 monthly is enough to sustain families; however in the long run this could act as a disincentive for people to go back to work.

Canada Emergency Response Benefit Program

$2,000 a month for up to 4 months.

Social distancing

If anyone goes outside, they need to do social distancing 2m apart. You don't get to be close to anybody. This picture is what that looks like. I chose this because you need to get food but you also need to be far from people so stand 6 feet apart.

PLEXIGLASS SHIELD

Plexiglass shields reduce airborne contaminants by having a protective barrier keeping you away from as many germs as possible. The shield is also clear so you can use it to check-in or see others.

FACIAL MASKS

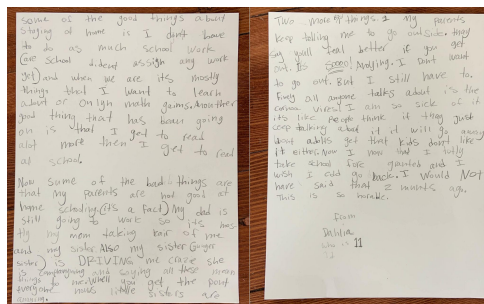

As my artifact I chose facial masks. Facial masks are used to prevent the spread of diseases or sicknesses. I chose to put facial masks in my project because the topic of my project is COVID-19 and facial masks can be used to prevent COVID-19(the spread of it). Facial masks relate to my theme of safety because they can be used to prevent coronavirus and also stop the spread of it if all people wear it.

Sick? Stay home! Signs are often found on shops, warning people not to be outside too much. You should isolate yourself physically if you have a fever or cough, because you might have the virus, and you don't want to spread it to anyone else.

This is a letter (not written for me) from an 11 year-old girl in San Francisco. It explains some good things about staying at home, and some bad ones. It also says that she would rather be at school instead of staying at home. This represents that most children are finding it difficult to keep social distancing a priority.

This is a sign outside a trail, informing the people to stay no more than 2 metres of other people, by displaying a drawing of an eagle wingspan. Social distancing means to keep a distance away from people, to put space between one person and another. 2 metres (or 6 feet), is how much you should stay away from people, for they might have the virus and could pass it to you.

This picture/artifact is a library. I have chosen it because community places around the world were shut down because of Covid 19. Places where people entered and exited were closed down, because it would be too much of a risk for everyone, places such as, parks, schools, community centres, libraries and so much more. The artifact relates to the theme of community because a library is a community place, where people do all sorts of things together (read, learn, study, have fun). One main thing in libraries are books, online libraries, were providing books on Covid 19 or other interesting topics during this time. When I learn something new, I love to share with others so, libraries are encouraging everyone to talk to peers, teachers, cousins and loved ones about interesting topics during this time in order to not lose communication, which is a part of community.

Community

This is an image from a video showing how communities came together to show unity. Italian communities got together and sang from their homes, and Chinese citizens sent well wishes to the Italians.

This image was chosen because it shows that even when things aren't looking up, people can find ways to come together, even from different countries.

This relates to the theme because it has people coming together to bring optimism into a negative situation.

Artifact 1:

This artifact is a #thankyoufrontlineworkers poster I saw in front of a friend's house. It expresses how much people care about frontline workers in these times.

Artifact 2:

This artifact is a N95 face mask. I chose it so future generations do not forget about what happened in 2020. These masks can prevent the spread of COVID-19.

Artifact 3:

This artifact is a #stayathome poster. I chose this because it expresses the message that is still all around the world.

Artifact 4:

This artifact is a model of a doctor wearing an N95 mask, gloves, and dress cover. I chose this so that people know what the struggle was.

Community together brings hope!

This is a poster that the people in the neighbourhood made together in Dutch. This poster basically says to glue your feet and stay at home, or at least remember to maintain social distancing. There are many posters like this that are being spread through social media or are being stuck around the society. However all these messages are to warn everyone about Covid-19. When people are reading these messages, it can maybe convince them to stay home at least for the sake of the people that spend hard time making these posters and sticking around places. Any how, this will only happen to 1 out of 5 people but let's just have hope remembering that one small change can make the biggest difference.

Isolation

Celebrations such as Eid al Fitr, Passover, and Easter all involve togetherness and gatherings with those you love. However those celebrations were not able to happen the way they normally do. Times when you normally would be together are replaced with your immediate family only, or 'Zoom' calls. COVID-19 has changed everything, even celebrations that would never be thought to not involve family gatherings.

A lot of people have been biking around the neighbourhood to deal with isolation. You can bike as long as you are staying socially distanced with other bikers and people.

Sports

If you weren't riding your bikes than you were definitely playing sports. Personally I played a lot of basketball and badminton,

Audience:

People who need the cure for boredom

To see how the world is doing, and to see what steps civilians are to take to ensure their safety and to prevent them from getting CoronaVirus, we watched the news. Other times, people watched it because they were bored

Cooking

Aksiyaa

At home, people will do anything to stay active and I believe one thing most people did was cook.

Biking & Running

I have been biking and running. When my dad comes from work, I run a few laps around the Catholic school's forest that is near Black Walnut. Also at 7 o'clock, my family and I ride our bikes in the forest, at schools and other places. This is how I get my physical activity during this awful isolation we have had for a while. Not only that, but it gets us active and healthy.

Kabishan

I chose puzzles because during isolation we are making and problem solving through different kinds of games such as puzzles. This is because we have all the time in the world to be creating and problem solving through these kinds of things. I also chose puzzles because they help you relax after doing school or when you are stressed. Another reason I chose puzzles is because during isolation, you aren't very positive and happy, so when you achieve or finish something (like a puzzle) you feel very good and accomplished. Puzzles are something that will keep us occupied and focused, which is good in this case because being in isolation definitely doesn't make you happy. So having your mind on something else like puzzles will help to lift up your spirits a little more.

Entertainment Sources

Some board games that were really popular during COVID-19 isolation were:

- Monopoly
- Scrabble
- Snakes and Ladders
- Chess/Checkers

Home and Outdoor Entertainment

To entertain ourselves at home my parents and I played a lot of board games and card games. We also read a lot of books and watched a lot of family movies together to pass the time. As the weather became warmer, my parents bought outdoor furniture so we can spend time outside and enjoy the nice weather.

Education

During these hard times we can't attend school because of covid 19 and instead we have to do online learning. I chose this artifact because it's important for all students to still be educated even though it's not in person and to keep learning new things. Online learning relates to my theme because my theme is about staying healthy, educated, and online learning provides all students with with that. For example we have different subjects that we learn such as, math, science, french, literacy, art, drama, and music.

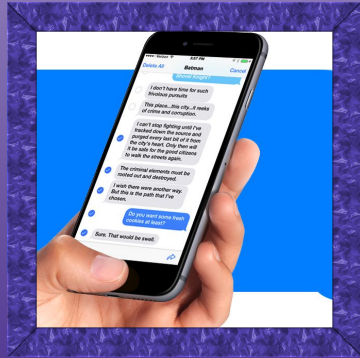

Kiwi projects to learn outside of school

I chose this as an artifact because during isolation, it helps you learn things like physics and you could build cool creations, like an automaton or a bottle rocket.

Communication

My artifacts are pictures of people who are staying connected in a safe way. In this case, they are using Zoom, hangouts, message, and meeting up in front of someone's house. I chose this to inform people that even though keeping a distance is good for your health, you should still keep in contact with people, because it will help you ease your mind.

Rubia

1. We can't see anyone physically, so we would draw with chalk or signs to talk and say we can do this. We can also use these to lift someone's mood.
2. We couldn't see anyone, unless we are pretty spread apart, so we put up drawings and signs to say hello, or to say thank you to frontline workers during the virus outbreak.
3. We can't see each other, unless we stay apart from each other from a far place, so drawings and signs make it easier to say hello when walking past a house.

Zoom

Covid-19 prevented people from seeing each other in large groups so people used Zoom. Also to keep kids social, they would go on Zoom to talk with their friends.
